

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

returned to her work feeling that she had gained much help and inspiration from meeting with others who had similar problems.

The following officers were elected: President, Ethel H. Butts; vice-president, Esther Shields; secretary, Zola Payne; treasurer, Miriam Fox; editorial secretary, Vera Ingerson.

ITEMS

International Training Course for Public Health Nurses.—In view of the excellent results obtained this year by the International Training Course of Public Health Nurses at the University of London, the League of Red Cross Societies has decided to organize a new course next year at Bedford College for Women which, like King's College for Women, where the first course was held, is a part of the University of London. The course will begin on October 7, 1921.

Nineteen nurses, representing eighteen countries, attended the first course. Nurses from Japan, China and New Zealand have already been inscribed for the new course, and many other inscriptions are expected. As was the case last year, national Red Cross Societies, members of the League, have been requested to offer scholarships to enable Red Cross nurses to take this course.

WHO'S WHO IN THE NURSING WORLD

III. LINDA RICHARDS

BIRTHPLACE: A small town near Potsdam, N. Y. PARENTAGE: English. PRESENT POSITION: Retired. EDUCATION: High School. GRADUATE OF: First graduate of the New England Hospital Training School for Nurses, Boston, Mass. POST-GRADUATE WORK: Spent several months in the hospitals of England and Scotland and during this time visited Florence Nightingale at her London home and at Lee Hurst. POSITIONS HELD: Night superintendent of Bellevue Hospital, New York City, when this school was in its infancy; organized the Training School of the Massachusetts General Hospital; organized the Training School for nurses, Boston City Hospital, Boston, Mass., being connected with this school for eight years; Missionary to Japan under the American Board of Missions for five years and organized the first schools of nursing in Japan. Following her return from Japan, Miss Richards was director of visiting nursing in Philadelphia; organized the Training School of the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa.; Superintendent of the New England Hospital, Boston, Mass.; reorganized the Training School of the Homeopathic Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Superintendent of the Hartford Hospital Training School, Hartford, Conn.; reorganized the School for Nurses of the Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor, Mass.; Superintendent of Nurses at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., during the time that Mary E. P. Davis was superintendent of the hospital; organized School of Nursing, Taunton State Hospital, Taunton, Mass.; organized School of Nursing, Worcester State Hospital, Worcester, Mass.; reorganized School of Nursing, Kalamazoo State Hospital, Kalamazoo, Mich. Retired at the end of the ten and one-half years spent in organizing training schools in connection with hospitals for the insane. It was at this time that the character of the nursing staff was changed from that of attendants to nurses trained in their special work with generous affiliation with general hospitals to round out their preparation. AUTHOR OF: Reminiscences of America's First Trained Nurse.